

The Spider Web - 4 of Wands + 6 of Pentacles

This month the pendulum played a little trick on me and chose tarot cards instead of oracle cards. When I use the cards, tarot are 'action' cards.. insights on real world/present tense surroundings that are asking for you to react to or act upon. So this month, the preface is over and it is time to start creating. The 4 of Wands came out with the 6 of Pentacles.. helping us build strong, protective collaborations so we can safely grow and foster the gifts we have to offer the world. The 4 of Wands is structural. Creating a safe, joyful space with others. It's hard to hold up 4 walls alone.. we need others. Find your people. Reach out to others who share your hopes and dreams for the world. Within these 'structures' and organized footings.. the 6 of Pentacles speaks about what you have to offer. What can you share with us? Within the security of these structures, you will foster more confidence and appreciate your own value. Seeing that your gift, no matter how big or small is a crucial part of the whole.

This month, the challenge is to seek out people, places and causes that you feel strongly about. Once you do that.. how do you feel about joining these spaces? Do you feel like you belong? Do you feel you have a value to bring? What patterns or stories do you have around community or groups? Do you feel you don't have something to offer? Or that your gift isn't as valuable? Where did that story come from? Dig deep. Was this from a family story about your role within it? Or social circle narratives that have been lingering since your old school days? Each of us brings a very distinct and unique way of being in the world. Even if you can do the same thing as someone else (say.. you are a great baker) - your way is completely different and rare because it is YOU. You bring a panache.. a certain vibe.. an energy that no one else possesses. Do you feel that is enough? Or are you downplaying your role? Imposter syndrome? Fuck it. Push yourself a little out of your comfort zone. You belong. A community is only as strong as each of us holding each other up. Listen to my audio on Ghost Pipe to hear about this magical woodland plant and how they grow in collaboration with the mycelium, the pines, the woods and each other.

We are stronger together.
